THURSDAY EVENING, AUGUST 18.

CHURCH BELLS - The following from the London Lancet is commended to the considera tion of the proper charch efficers. The tolling of bells is certainly a great appoparce, and is wholly unnecessary: "There is not a word to be said against church bells in the abstract, or in their proper place-that is to say, in the country, where a peal of bells may be useful to call the residents scattered over an excessive dis rict to service; but in towns they are an intolorable and most mischief working buisance. To the sick, suffering from headache and per vous irritation, the diag deng and ja ge of oburch bells coss itute a very seri us annuyance; and we do not heritate to say, in many cases the loss of rest and the general disquierule they produce not only I seen the chance of recevery. but may expedite a fatal i-see. This is a grave charge, but we make it advis dly. It is a daily cause of injurious excitement to the sick, and a provocative of ill temper to the healthy. The time is approaching when it may be needfu', in the interests of the week and suffering, to apply to the Legislature for a special cose ment prohibiting the ringing or telling of charca bells in perulous I clinics. For the present, how ever, the appeal lies to the humanity of the elergymen and churchwarders of the city and suburban parishes. Surely they will not persist in a perfectly unnecessary infliction, which is shown and known to work dire cvil."
